

Call for Papers

International Symposium

Preamble

The Centre for Religious Life and Apostolate (CERRA-Africa) invites scholars, researchers, practitioners, and students to its first international symposium titled "Consecrated Women Religious in Africa: Creating a Global Impact on Sustainable Development," to be held at the Catholic University of Eastern Africa, Langata Campus, Nairobi, Kenya, from June 10th to 12th, 2025. This symposium aims to illuminate the significant contributions of Catholic Sisters and consecrated women religious in various sectors, including education, ministry, healthcare, care for the elderly, and social services. Despite their extensive presence and profound impact in the Catholic Church in Africa, comprehensive research and documentation on their works remain scarce. This event seeks to address this gap by providing a platform for sharing rigorous research findings, personal narratives, and collaborative insights into their diverse roles.

We invite submissions that rigorously examine the multi-faceted roles of Sisters and their transformative contributions to society. Papers should reflect lived experiences, highlight the often "silent presence" of Consecrated Women Religious, and explore the broader implications of their ministries in evangelization, healing, education, and social justice. This symposium endeavours to foster a deeper understanding and appreciation of the relentless efforts of consecrated women religious, ensuring their stories are documented and their legacies honoured. Contributions that shed light on their invaluable, yet often overlooked, contributions to sustainable development are highly encouraged. Join us in this intellectual and spiritual endeavour to recognize and celebrate the enduring impact of consecrated women religious in Africa and beyond.
